

Hello Everyone,

You won't believe what happened...this morning I came into my classroom and I was shocked to find that my reading corner had been completely destroyed. We have been learning about our author of the term Julia Donaldson and to my disbelief I found all her books scattered on the floor. Have you got any idea who could have done this?

Not only that, someone wrapped the reading stand with masking tape so no one can get to read the other books. Can you see someone hiding behind the reading stand?

Through the glimpse of my eye, I spotted the naughty elf trying to escape out of the window. I was just about to grab him but he disappeared in a flash.

He tried to stop us from developing reading for pleasure. This is a hideous act and we need to catch the naughty elf before he gets up to more mischief.

Help!!!

Ms Ali
