

Hello All,

There is more terrible news on the 'Elf Situation' I'm afraid...

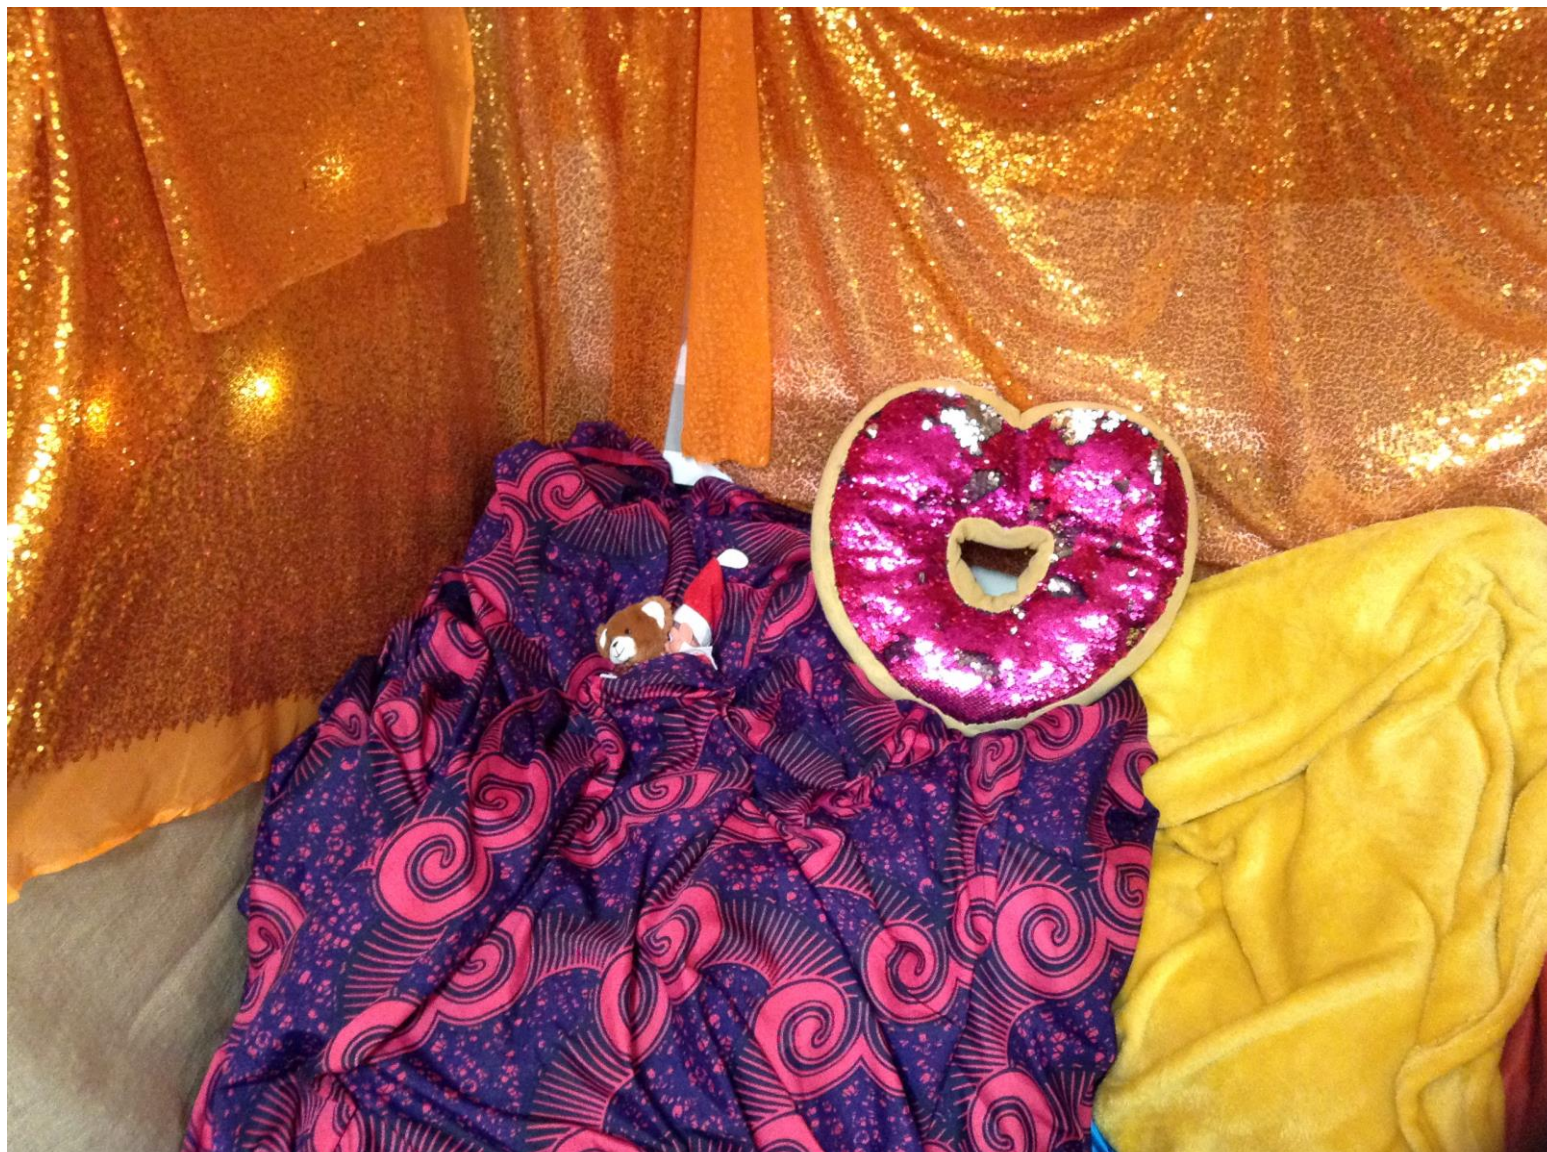

I was excited to come into work this morning as I knew I was going to be able to eat one of the delicious mince pies I bought yesterday. However, I was distraught to find that they had disappeared!

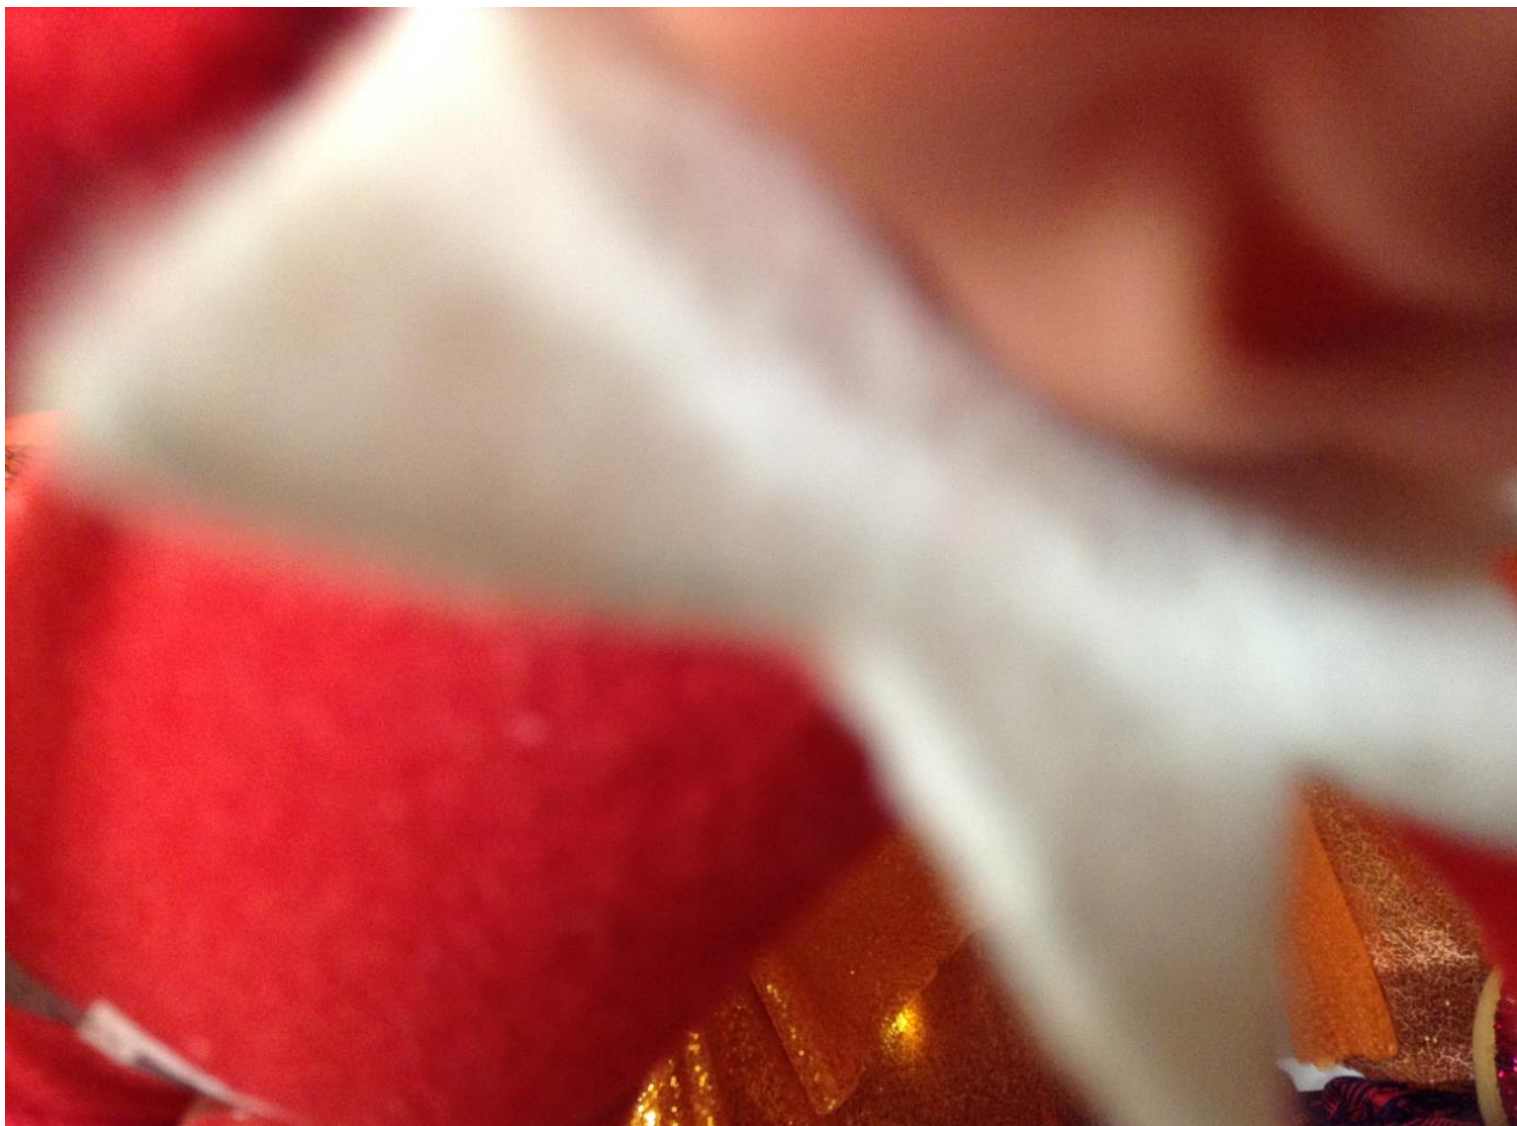

I wondered if Mr Allen or Mr Hack had been snacking on them as I know they both arrive to school very early. Whoever it was, they had made such a mess, so I decided to follow the trail...

Imagine my surprise and disgust when I found that naughty little elf audaciously sleeping in the cosy corner!

Not only that, but as I leapt to reprimand him, he lunged at me with such a force that I was knocked to the ground.

Please, if you see him, you must let an adult know. This tiny tyrant is officially out of control and cannot remain on the loose another second. I am quite upset and hungry now.

Miss Edlin (ARP)
