

Children of Becontree, I have some terrible news! Myself, Miss Edlin and Miss Hoad are devastated because we were violently attacked by not one, but two devious elves...

Imagine our horror, when we walked into Summer Room in the ARP to begin work for the day and my computer screen was covered in snowballs.

After the initial shock, we realised that it was the elves because they were still there. In fact they had made such a mess, that they were able to create snow angels on my table.

They continued to throw snowballs in our presence, even though Miss Hoad did her very best angry face. Despite our best efforts, the terrible twosome escaped.

Please be on the lookout, our faces are very sore from all the snow.
