

Elf Alert!

The elves have been spotted in the school kitchen overnight. They have caused a mess searching for sugary treats to eat and found the cake that was baked and ready for school dinners!

They have eaten so much of it that they have probably got belly aches today!

The kitchen staff tried to catch them but they jumped off the food trolley and ran out the door!