

jump.

very interesting metaphors - well done! SC

Remember, one line is sufficient for crossing out X

Tuesday 24th January 2017

L.O. To write in the style of Alfred Noyes.

- ✓ The tables were a maze of madness, scattered about the room.
- ✓ The lights were balls of fire, shining on top of her head.
- ✓ The board was a map of the maze, guiding her to the finishing seat.

The student came skipping -

Skipping - skipping -

- ✓ The student came skipping to find her seat in the maze.

- ✓ She'd a ponytail upon her head, down to her blue shirt collar.

A short maroon and blue tie, hiding under her maroon jumper.

Which it went down to ~~her~~ her grey-ish skirt, ~~the grey~~ and stopped before her knees. ✓

And her boots ~~boots~~ ^{buckles} a ~~twinkle~~ twinkle -

Her ~~silk~~ hair glows a twinkle - her grey skirt dulls the ~~twinkle~~ - under the glaring light.

Fantastic job of writing in the style of the highwayman! ✓