

Thursday 23rd April, 2026

To write a story using folktale features

The Enchantress of the Endless Marsh

On the far side ~~of~~ of the endless Marsh lived a family. There was a father, a mother and three little boys. There also lived an evil Enchantress who loved to steal children.

The father and mother made sure their children are safe by making a hut above the water!

Underneath the father placed lily pads down. The father and the Mother told their children "never to let the ladder down unless the hear 7 dings". So every day when the father and mother went to work they would sit down do puzzles or they would play with their toys.

4.4.26 But one day the evil enchantress came along and stared at the house. She saw the three little boys playing ludo. She said "Oh little boys do you want some toys?"

The little boys didn't hear the thing.
So they didn't let down the ladder.

Then the evil enchantress hid underneath the house. The little boys didn't see the enchantress because the whole water was very green. She made the pretty lily pads cover her but underneath the water was a muddy ✓ Soggy wet puddle of moss.

The enchantress waited to get out of the moss so she ~~sa~~ swam away from the puddle. The next evening the father and mother came home from clearing the water.

The father dinged 1 times and the ladder came flying down. The evil enchantress heard and cackled "Yes finally! I know the code. When the mother and father got up the boys told them about the

Sp. enchantress. "Beaware"! the mother shouted. So the next day when the father and mother went to work the enchantress came back and dinged 7 times. Down came the ladder and the evil enchantress grabbed the boys and put them in her wheelbarrow. She took the boys up the mud mountain and in her base. When the mum and dad came home they found the ladder dangling down. The enchantress base was on top of a mountain. The mountain was a mud mountain. The father and mother ran into the village screaming "has anyone seen our poor little boys?" "Help!"

9.4.26 Then they ran to the water King and Queen and they begged for help. The King and Queen told the mother and father that it might be the evil enchantress who stole their poor children. The mother felt worried more than anyone. Her beloved sons were taken. The father felt like if he was going to collapse. "What do we do?" cried the mother devastated. The father shouted "I've got a plan." "Listen to us" said the King. "Use these guards, they will protect you from any harm." "And one thing I know said the Queen is that she has a mirror that alerts her when anyone steps on her precious mud." "That name is awful." "Yeah I know" said the Queen. The King interrupted "guards come here." "like I said

Sp. these special guards will protect you and your wife and you guys won't get a single mark. "Now ok" said the father while the Queen and the mother were eating fruit cake while talking about their missing sons.

"Ok do we have to tell you some more advice about going to the enchantress's hut." "Yes please" "Ok she has a frog yeah? She will use that to get rid of the boys and you will never see them again." "Ok so ~~what~~ what do we do?" "You have to put the frog into the hot ~~pi~~ boiling water to kill it." "Ok that's easy peasy lemon squeezy."

1.4.26 "Ok that's all we have to do" said the father.

Just a ~~lot~~ little recap we have to take these guards and they will get the enchantress's attention but she will not bother so we go in the ship and sail across the endless marsh. "Ok Eyes" when they got there all they saw was a ugly hut that belonged to the enchantress. The father and mother took a deep breathe but before climbing they disuged themselves into a witch and a wizard. They climed until they finally reached the door. "We are looking for a place to stay". Only two people. "oh I didn't see you coming" shouted the enchantress. "Oh we need to stay at a house". "NO! Begone!". Then the enchantress saw the guards. "On second thoughts. I might ^{two} have to more beds with matresess". The enchantress gave a quirky smile. The enchantress said "lay down I'll get you some tea. The father and mother layed down and watched the enchantress put the ingredients in. Then the mother looked around and ~~find~~ found her boys sitting there ~~sig~~ crying. She whispered to the father "The boys are there". But then the evil enchantress ~~saw her~~ put the poison into the stew. Then the father got up aswell as the mother and screamed "Stop stealing children". "It's illegal". The mother grabbed the frog and chucked it in the cauldron while the guards pushed the enchantress in the cauldron.

"No what have you done?" "Ha evil lady" said the mother.

The boys ran to their parents and tightly hugged them and cried out of happiness. ~~Then~~ They crossed the endless marsh and slid down the mud mountain. They sang and danced. They grabbed mud and throwed it in ~~the~~ the air. They ran to the town shouting "Let's have a party". "Yay!". There were confetti poppers and a lovely cake that said "WE REJOICE". The mother bought glow sticks and everyone got ~~chalk~~ broken chalk and throwed it in the air screaming "Yay".

Then someone lit fire works that surprised everyone. "Oh" screamed the mother. The fireworks said "Everyone dance" the music turned on full volume and everyone danced ✓

Supply