

The Elves have been in the school kitchen!

Those naughty little Elves have been playing in the kitchen.

I hope they have not ruined the preparations for our school Christmas lunch...

All the apples have been eaten, so we will not be having apple pie for dessert.

We may have to think of something else.

They even helped themselves to the Christmas biscuits.

Luckily we baked a few extras!

Mrs Duff tried to trap them in the oven but they jumped out just as I got close to them.

We have only one more day to catch them.....
